

DEVELOPMENT OF TRUCK BUSINESS

Motor Industry in Rural Territory Has an Important Effect on Marketing Costs.

WAR BROUGHT ABOUT CRISIS

Conditions Precipitated Action by Creating Demand for Transportation Facilities of All Kinds—Difference in Plans.

Three general causes have contributed to the development of the motor truck industry in rural territory—an industry which has an important effect on farm-marketing costs. These causes are: (1) the growth of our large cities and the consequent development of nearby producing areas to provide for part of the food needs of these cities; (2) the failure of the railroads to keep pace with the expansion of their short-haul business; (3) the development of the motor truck manufacturing industry and the consequent extension of their sales campaigns.

Crisis in Transportation. The crisis in the transportation field, brought about by national war emergency, afforded stimulus to the development of rural motor transportation power far more than any other general influence. Doubtless the motor truck, in any event, would have established itself as a factor in the rural field, but ordinarily this would have been a slow process, involving the many preliminary steps. War conditions precipitated action by creating a very unusual demand for transportation facilities of all kinds. It has been necessary only to develop the opportunity. Such development necessitates or presupposes a certain familiarity with the problem as a whole. That such familiarity did not exist among those interested in developing rural motor routes was shown by preliminary investigations, initiated by the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. An attempt was made more than a year ago to conduct a general preliminary survey of rural motor routes established or in process of establishment. The purpose was to secure basic information regarding the desirability of establishing such routes, the methods undertaken by the beginners in this field, and the measure of success which had been attained during the early period of operation.

A Type of Motor Truck That Requires Skill for Most Efficient Operation.

Truck Is Newcomer. The information collected shows considerable differences in the plans adopted by the average inexperienced operator. The word "inexperienced" is used advisedly in the preceding paragraph because the motor truck is a comparative newcomer in the field of transportation and there has not yet been time for many of the important preliminary problems to be worked out and a general understanding of possibilities secured. The results of the department's investigations in this field have been compiled in a bulletin, "Motor Transportation for Rural Districts," which will be sent on request. Address: United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Movie Attraction Is New. Series of Pictures and Stereoscopic Slides to Be Used to Boost "Better Sites."

The department of agriculture is preparing a series of motion pictures and stereoscopic slides for use in the "Better Sites" campaign. The interest aroused among the breeders of the United States is taking the form of requests upon the department of agriculture for information which it is hoped, the film feature will be able to satisfy. It is probable that the motion pictures will be ready for issue next fall.

RAPE IS ESPECIALLY USEFUL

Not Pastured Down Too Close Crop Will Grow Until Fall—Withstands Hot Weather.

Rape seeded early will grow until fall if not pastured down to less than four or five leaves to the plant. The crop is especially useful during the hot, dry months. It will grow until heavy frosts come and may be pastured from early June to the middle of November, or about six months.

Care of Trees on Arroyos. Examine your trees as soon as they arrive and see that they are free from disease and insects. It is best to set them out at once but if for any reason this cannot be done, keep them in.

Care and Cultivation. Young trees require the best of care and cultivation. Practice frequent cultivation during the summer and plant a catch crop in July or early August.

Keep Rich Soil Working. The best gardeners keep all of their rich soil working to its limit from early spring till late fall. As soon as one crop matures and is removed another is quickly planted to take its place.

Feeding Little Ducks. Little ducks should not be fed until they are from 24 to 36 hours old, when they may be given equal parts of rolled oats and brewer's crumbs with 3 per cent of sharp sand mixed in the feed.

MARKET INFLUENCED LARGELY BY SUPPLY

Lowest Prices Prevail After the Heaviest Shipments.

With Decreasing Stocks Prices Advance. Sometimes Recovering Much of Early Decline—Careful Study Will Assist.

The man engaged in either selling or buying perishable produce will do well to familiarize himself with the usual course of the market in such lines during a season. The natural market course, according to marketing experts of the United States department of agriculture, is somewhat as follows: It starts high with active movement even for inferior stock because the demand has the sharp edge of novelty and appetite. The price gradually declines and poor stock becomes harder to sell as the supply increases. Lowest prices are reached when the heaviest shipments begin, and a glut may occur, especially if many seasons are supply, prices advance, sometimes recovering much of the early decline, but usually not reaching the opening prices because demand is far less keen at the end of a long season. If the last of the shipment is inferior, happens frequently with many perishable crops, the season may close at or near bottom prices.

The common or natural market developments do not always take place as might be expected. Quite frequently by superior quality of the main crop or absence of general competition will bring higher prices in mid season. Unexpected shortages may cause the reverse stock in storage to sell at high prices at the close of the season, especially the less perishable crops like potatoes, onions, apples, cabbage, etc. Careful study of crop, shortage, supply, and shipment should enable a fairly good judgment to be made of the outcome. However, quickly perishable short season crops like strawberries or melons are very irregular, and so it is difficult to form a reliable market judgment of them.

BEAUTIFUL FARM HOME YARDS

Shrubbery, Flower Beds and Good Lawn Improve Comparatively Small Amount of Labor.

The dwelling is the headquarters of the farm business. Chores are done before breakfast and after dinner, so the stock needs close attention, certain farm seeds are kept in the house, the hired man may sleep there, and the women folks take care of the poultry; thus it is almost essential that the house be reasonably close to the other buildings. The value of the house constitutes an important part of the real estate value of the farm, says the United States department of agriculture. On the high-priced corn-belt farms and the lower-priced farms of the South, the value of the dwelling represents from 5 to 15 per cent of the real estate value of the farm, while in the eastern part of the United States this percentage is more commonly 20 per cent or over. The beautifying of the yard by shrubbery, flower beds, and a good lawn involves the occasional use of manure, the introduction of fertile soil, the use of a team and of small farm tools, all of which are available on the average farm.

PUREBREDS NEEDED AT HOME. Wisconsin Bank Offers to Advance Loans to Customers Who Wish to Purchase Holsteins.

The Better-Sites campaign conducted by various states in co-operation with the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, is developing the fact that bank credit is as available to the progressive business man of the city as it is to the farmer. The bureau of animal industry reports the following announcement published by a Wisconsin bank to its farmer patrons: "Why not keep some of these purebred Holsteins at home? Many fine animals will be sold at the first annual sale of the Brown County Holstein Breeders' association to be held in the Brown county fair grounds West De Pere, Wis., the 1st of August. The bank is ready to stand back of any of its customers who wish to purchase some of the stock to be offered for sale and who do not feel able at present to carry the investment. Call at the bank, and the accommodation can be easily arranged."

Flight Asparagus Slugs. A late brood of asparagus slugs appear early with the parsnips green solution—one tablespoonful of paris green mixed in two gallons of water.

Less Vegetables Grown. Fewer vegetables than usual are being planted by the market gardeners this year on account of labor conditions.

Best Annual Legume. The best annual legume for medium to light soil is the soybean. It yields better results than any other legume sold here other legumes fail to catch.

Soil for Soy Bean. Soybeans are just a common crop for common people. It is not necessary to have a soil free from acid for good yields.

Demand Exceeds Supply. The demand for orange trees is in far in excess of the supply.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR JULY 11

JONATHAN BEFRIENDS DAVID.

LESSON TEXT—1 Sam. 20. GOLDEN TEXT—A friend loveth at all times, and a brother is born for adversity.—Prov. 17:17. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—1 Sam. 18:1-17; 19:1-24.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Story of Two Friends. JUNIOR TOPIC—David and His Friend. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Friendships That Are Worth While. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Friendship: What It Is and What It Does.

The friendship between Jonathan and David is recorded in the Bible. It occurred between two men of rival worldly interests. Jonathan was the crown prince, the heir to the throne. David was the heir according to divine choice and arrangement. Jonathan knew this and magnanimously waived his natural personal rights to the one whom he knew that God had chosen. Following the interview of Saul and David after the victory over the Philistines, Jonathan's soul was knit with that of David. He loved him as his own soul. While there was mutual love, yet this pleasing trait stands out more in Jonathan than in David, because it meant great loss to him—the loss of the throne, the loss of his father's kingdom, the acquisition of the throne to which he had no natural right. The genuine friendship was shown:

1. By Giving to David His Court Robe and Equipment (18-24). These belonged to Jonathan as the crown prince. Following the love-lesson between them (18-23) Jonathan stripped himself of these and gave them to David. This was a fitting token of his friendship. Jonathan's love for David was shown in his willingness to give up the throne to him.

2. By Defending David Against the Fury of Saul (19-20). According to oriental custom, the women met David and his soldiers as they returned from their victory over the Philistines, and with singing and dancing they ascribed more praise to David than to Saul. This stirred up the numerous envy of Saul and moved him to three attempts to kill David. In his third attempt Jonathan intervened before his father and evoked from him the oath that David should not be slain (19-20). Thus he exposed himself to the anger of his father, but he did so for the sake of his friend.

3. By Revealing to David Saul's Murders Intent (21-23). The beginning of a new moon was the time for the annual sacrifice at which all the members of the family were expected to be present (v. 2). David's excuse for absence was that he was going to the house of his father. Jonathan, however, revealed to David the true intention of his father, and thus saved his friend's life.

4. By Giving to David His Bow and Arrows (24-26). Jonathan gave David his bow and arrows, which were the symbols of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

5. By Giving to David His Sword (27-28). Jonathan gave David his sword, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

6. By Giving to David His Girdle (29-30). Jonathan gave David his girdle, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

7. By Giving to David His Shoes (31-32). Jonathan gave David his shoes, which were the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

8. By Giving to David His Cloak (33-34). Jonathan gave David his cloak, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

9. By Giving to David His Belt (35-36). Jonathan gave David his belt, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

10. By Giving to David His Sash (37-38). Jonathan gave David his sash, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

11. By Giving to David His Tunic (39-40). Jonathan gave David his tunic, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

12. By Giving to David His Hose (41-42). Jonathan gave David his hose, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

13. By Giving to David His Shoes (43-44). Jonathan gave David his shoes, which were the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

14. By Giving to David His Cloak (45-46). Jonathan gave David his cloak, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

15. By Giving to David His Belt (47-48). Jonathan gave David his belt, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

16. By Giving to David His Sash (49-50). Jonathan gave David his sash, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

17. By Giving to David His Tunic (51-52). Jonathan gave David his tunic, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

18. By Giving to David His Hose (53-54). Jonathan gave David his hose, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

19. By Giving to David His Shoes (55-56). Jonathan gave David his shoes, which were the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

20. By Giving to David His Cloak (57-58). Jonathan gave David his cloak, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

21. By Giving to David His Belt (59-60). Jonathan gave David his belt, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

22. By Giving to David His Sash (61-62). Jonathan gave David his sash, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.

23. By Giving to David His Tunic (63-64). Jonathan gave David his tunic, which was the symbol of his friendship. This was a fitting token of his friendship.
